

Randall Hall

A Winning Father-Daughter Team: Perfecting the One-source Concept

REMODELING A RESIDENCE IN KEEPING with the existing design, structure and location can be a restrictive and difficult challenge. However, if you're working with Randall Hall and his daughter Kelly, the experience becomes expansive and limitless as the design process merges seamlessly into original and creative building. Their more than 40 awards for professional excellence is but part of the testimony supporting their impeccable reputation. What is the key to this success? From design to finished product, Randall and Kelly give clients the benefit of a one-plan, one-approach, one-source concept.

This father-and-daughter team brings extensive construction expertise and gifted professional design to each project. Randall Hall handles all aspects of a project, resulting in a greater continuity of service and quality, across all disciplines. This synergy also assures time and money efficiency as the same team handles each detail of the renovation or expansion, from start to finish. Additionally, Randall Hall presents a multiphase plan that will carry a homeowner well into the future—even if they plan to build/remodel one step at a time. By delivering a precise, phase-by-phase budget and design, Randall Hall allows owners to stay in control of the project's scope and ultimate direction.

Beginning in the custom home industry in 1978, Randall Hall has more than 25 years of experience in design, building, and remodeling. This extensive background enables Randall Hall to anticipate and avoid many of the problems typically encountered in perfecting a remodeled home. Ranging from room additions to remodels of 10,000-square-foot homes and from contemporary styling to traditional face lifts, the group takes on the toughest projects, boosting a home's livability, energy efficiency, and functionality. Design considerations accommodate historic neighborhoods, scenic views, high-traffic areas, and complex building codes. Working in close partnership with the client, Randall Hall creates new spaces that exceed expectations in both style and quality.

One of the most prestigious awards given to builders by their peers, the "Remodeler of the Year" was awarded to Randall Hall in 2003 for work in the Park Cities and Preston Hollow areas of Dallas. The firm was also awarded the "Best Historical Renovation" in 2003 for work on a large addition to a Swiss Avenue residence.

Randall Hall with daughter, Kelly.

Numerous other awards and accolades from local and national organizations fill out Randall Hall's portfolio of accomplishments, including being elected by his peers to the position of President of the Home Builders Association of greater Dallas in 2002. Exceptional quality, smooth transitions from design to building, long-term vision, and extensive experience have built Randall Hall into one of the most sought after firms in Dallas-Fort Worth. —L.Z.

Randall Hall Design/Build/Remodel
11837 Judd Ct., Ste. 122
Dallas TX 75243
214-341-3365
www.randallhall.com